I am overjoyed by The Turn•Around Agenda’s (TTA) significant progress in bringing about positive spiritual and social change in urban communities, even in the face of a struggling economy. TTA was established as the social outreach of Oak Cliff Bible Fellowship with the purpose of transforming communities by partnering with public schools and other faith and community-serving organizations to make a real difference in the lives of children, youth and families.

My reasons behind starting a comprehensive social outreach are two-fold. First, as a biblical mandate, God’s people were specifically instructed to seek the welfare of the secular city in which they were living and to pray for its well-being so that it would become a better place to live, work and raise their families (Jeremiah 29:7). The second reason, however, is personal and hits close to home.

As a boy growing up in the inner city of Baltimore, Maryland, I experienced firsthand the challenges that urban kids face in trying to rise above the poverty, broken families, violence, promiscuity and harmful addictions that breed hopelessness in so many of our young people and their families. I believe the reason for this is the separation of the spiritual from the social. There is a horrific disconnect between the role of the church on Sunday and the condition of hurting people on Monday.

This changed in my own life and family when my father discovered the life-giving power of faith and began operating differently because of it. Our home became different from most of the other homes in my neighborhood because the connection had been made between the spiritual and the social.

The Turn•Around Agenda (TTA) started because I never forgot the turnaround that occurred in my own life and family when a spiritual system of belief became the foundation for my decisions, and when I saw the link between faith in God and good works for the improvement of my life and the lives of others. Through TTA, we seek to multiply over and over the transformation that happened to me in the lives of thousands of urban youth and families in our community.

The 2010 annual report is a celebration of monumental achievements made possible through your unending commitment and support of our mission. Please take a moment and peruse the report and see the difference your contribution makes in the lives of so many. Thank you from the bottom of our hearts.

A Special Group of People
In the midst of economic uncertainties, The Turn•Around Agenda (TTA) continues to have a life-changing impact on thousands of young people and their families. The 2010 annual report is a notable summary of many accomplishments in meeting essential human needs and enabling disadvantaged youth, adults and families achieve self-sufficiency in a number of areas.

The success of our programs can be attributed to the hard work and support of dedicated staff, hard-working volunteers and generous financial partners. They bring compassion, expertise, and resources that have helped us reverse the negative effects of poverty, academic failure, promiscuity, crime, unemployment and more.

We have maintained fiscal stability in the performance of our good works, especially during tough economic times. In fact, over 90% of TTA’s revenues support programs that have a direct effect on the people we serve. Please take a moment to peruse the 2010 annual report, highlighting our program achievements and financial standing.

Although much has been done, there is a considerable amount of work to be done in seeking the welfare of our community so that it becomes a better place for our children, adults and families to live and thrive. As we press toward a better future for urban youth and families, we are counting on your continued financial support of our much-needed services. Most importantly, the return on your investment is a changed life.

Rebuilding Communities from the Inside Out
An Overview of The Turn•Around Agenda

The Turn•Around Agenda has become a refreshing answer to a seemingly hopeless situation. Established by Dr. Tony Evans in July 1985, The Turn•Around Agenda serves as the social outreach of Oak Cliff Bible Fellowship with a mission to rebuild communities from the inside out with comprehensive faith-based programs and community partnerships designed to transform the lives of urban youth and families.

It is our conviction that true change must come from within. Therefore, in order to impact lives, we must address the moral and spiritual foundations upon which those lives are built, while simultaneously meeting felt needs.

It all began in the early 90’s when a principal at a local high school contacted Dr. Evans about their dire need for a strong black male presence in the school. At that time, the school was experiencing a high occurrence of gang activity and other disruptive behaviors by students.

The Turn•Around Agenda responded by sending 12 men to walk the halls and restore order to the school. Before long, the school began to experience calm and stability. A stronger atmosphere of learning emerged. In short, these men administered tough love—a genuine concern and care for the students while maintaining discipline and accountability.

The social impact of TTA’s intervention in this one school quickly spread to other neighboring schools. In short, what began as a crisis intervention in one school has become proactive intervention in now 73 public schools in the southern sector of Dallas County.

To date, TTA has set in motion an array of services that specifically target public school youth and their families. Our approach is practical—the use of church and public school partnerships to effect positive social change in the communities we serve. Therefore, public schools serve as the primary vehicle for the delivery of social services to help those in need, addressing a myriad of complex issues encountered in urban settings. TTA’s all-inclusive approach is put into action with the following programs:

- Public Schools Outreach
- Athletics and Summer Youth Program
- Technology and Education Institute
- Family Care Pregnancy Center
- Human Needs Assistance

By working with public-school youth, we are able to reach their families and the whole community, offering an array of supportive services that work together for enabling individuals to make the right choices by changing the way they think and providing opportunities for positive change while giving them hope for a brighter tomorrow. The diagram on the following page illustrates the wraparound system in place to help and empower people to become constructive citizens of society.

The Turn-Around Agenda is located in the heart of the Oak Cliff community in the City of Dallas. A part of the southwest section of the city, Oak Cliff occupies approximately 200 square miles and is situated around the White Rock Escarpment, which endows the area with plentiful trees and natural landscaping.

Oak Cliff, originally named Hord’s Ridge, was founded in the mid 1840’s by William H. Hord. Mr. Hord came to the area to stake out a homestead on land offered to single men and heads of families by the Peters Colony Company. Following a period of slow growth, the town of Hord’s Ridge was renamed Oak Cliff as a campaign to characterize the area’s massive oaks and rolling hills in order to attract residential settlement.

The town was annexed by its rival neighbor, Dallas, in 1903 in a bitter election. Oak Cliff became a part of Dallas but remained an island apart, separated physically by the Trinity River and politically and socially in its fundamentalist doctrine. Oak Cliff today is still very much an independent enclave of Dallas, an area with its own identity and history.

(Data Source: Oak Cliff Chamber of Commerce)

Once virtually all white, Oak Cliff has become the home to waves of African American and Hispanic residents... comprising over 80% of the community’s population.

The following chart provides a demographic overview of Oak Cliff in comparison to the City of Dallas (not including the southern suburbs).

TTA’s reach expands beyond the Oak Cliff community into the southern suburbs of Dallas County, which include:

- Lancaster
- DeSoto
- Duncanville
- Cedar Hill

TTA is currently working with 73 public schools in the Dallas, Lancaster, DeSoto, Duncanville and Cedar Hill school districts, offering school-based mentoring, life skills education and a variety of support services to students and their families. The 73 schools represent six school clusters in the aforementioned school districts that have feeder patterns that designate the schools that students follow as they graduate from one level to the next. The goal is to keep these students together as they feed from their elementary and middle schools to the corresponding high schools.

Life-changing Programs
Public Schools Outreach (PSO)

PSO promotes healthy school and home environments by providing a myriad of services designed to bridge the gap between the school, students and parents; thereby, maximizing student success. The thrust of the program is to find solutions to the academic and social needs of high-risk students and their families. Relationships are developed with students through a combination of activities that include:

• School-based Mentoring that offers an array of activities for pro-social development, creating a sense of belonging among family, community and peers.

• Life Skills Education addressing abstinence, anger, school dropout and substance abuse issues.

• Youth Rallies that bring together thousands of students for encouragement, pro-social development and entertainment…promoting drug-free, abstinence, no violence, and stay-in-school messages.

• High School Heroes a program that gives high school student leaders an opportunity to inspire elementary and middle-school youth to stay in school and reach their highest potential.

• A State-of-the-Art Youth Center that serves as a neighborhood hub for a variety of social and entertainment activities for young people.

ASP offers afterschool and summer activities for our young people that educate, provide physical activity, and build character. Children grow physically, socially, mentally, spiritually and emotionally through participation in a variety of programs that are well-rounded and create balance in the pursuit of excellence.

- A Basketball League for boys and girls, ages 6 to 12, that play and learn the game of basketball while building self-confidence and getting physically fit.
- Summer Youth Program that uses sports, recreation and life skills education to build healthy minds, bodies and spirits in the young people served.
- A Volunteer Intern Program (VIP) that gives former participants in the summer program the opportunity to volunteer as a VIP to gain invaluable knowledge and practice in the world of work.
- Summer Employment Opportunities for youth who have a history of successful participation in TTA’s Volunteer Intern Program (VIP).

Notable Accomplishments in 2010:

1. 81 teams of boys and girls from the community (869 children total) participated in the basketball league.
2. Eight schools from TTA’s 73 public schools participated as teams in the basketball league.
3. Five teams placed in the Texas Amateur Athletic Federation’s state championship playoffs with the following results:
   - 12 and under boys won 1st place;
   - 10 and under girls won 1st place;
   - 10 and under boys won 1st place;

Notable Accomplishments in 2010:

1. A total 2,419 clients were served by the Technology and Education Institute.
2. 1,985 clients completed the following resource labs: Spanish, sign language, and resume writing.
3. 10 clients were placed in jobs.
4. 434 clients received Adult Literacy, GED, Microsoft Office 2007 Suite, and Adobe CS4 instruction and training.
5. 80 individuals were certified in the following software applications: Microsoft, Adobe, and IC3.
6. 10 students completed the GED program; 5 students took the GED test; and 2 GED students enrolled in college/vocational schools.

T&EI gives hundreds of disadvantaged individuals access to technology in education, computer training and certification. Census data indicate that poverty and low education attainment are factors that limit access and use of information and communication technologies. T&EI is an authorized Certiport Center offering Microsoft®, Adobe®, Internet and Computing Core Certification® (IC3), Intuit Quickbooks, & Comp-Tia Strata certifications. Integrating a variety of software applications that teach and enhance professional and education skills, T&EI offers the following programs:

- Adult Literacy teaches basic reading and writing skills to adults with little or no reading ability.
- Pre-GED/GED preparation provides adults with the necessary knowledge and test-taking skills to pass the GED state examination.
- Computer Training and Certification offers adults in-depth, high-quality computer training and certification in the aforementioned software applications.
- Basic Language Skills offers courses in Spanish and Sign Language for individuals that want to increase their marketability skills in the workforce.
The Family Care Pregnancy Center (FCPC)

FCPC offers long-term, holistic solutions to eradicate the abortion epidemic that’s devastating minority communities across the country. Unlike traditional pregnancy centers that only concentrate on the immediate effects of unplanned pregnancies, the Family Care Pregnancy Center tackles the numerous needs of the woman, boyfriend, husband and family members. This is done through a provision of life-changing services that advance the spiritual, social, health and economic well-being of individuals and families. The Center offers the following services:

- Clinical Services that include pregnancy testing, ultrasound, prenatal education, STD and HIV information/counseling.
- Professional Counseling in crisis pregnancy intervention for expecting mothers.
- Support Services that include postnatal aftercare, family support groups, mentoring, material needs assistance, adoption/foster care information, and maternity home assistance.
- Education Programs in parenting and abstinence as well as life skills training in anger management, healthy relationships, communication and spiritual growth.
- Community Education and Awareness that offers seminars, workshops, and presentations to local churches, schools and community agencies on pro-life and related topics.

Notable Accomplishments in 2010:

1. The Sanctity of Human Life Prayer Breakfast that increases awareness of pro-life issues in our church and community had over 100 people in attendance;
2. 599 clients received professional counseling, totaling 119 hours;
3. 20 abortion-minded women chose life for their unborn babies;
4. 522 students participated in a variety of activities, including Maya Angelou’s Family First Forum on sexual abuse, a Rites of Passage program, and sexual abstinence workshops;
5. 83 girls and women pledged secondary virginity;
6. 16 girls and women became new converts; 56 girls and women rededicated their lives to Christ; and
7. A men’s mentoring program for the fathers of the babies was established.
HNA addresses pressing issues such as inadequate nutrition and housing that often prevent individuals from taking advantage of life-changing opportunities that can impact their welfare. As such, basic physical needs must be met before people can move beyond their present circumstances to act on decisions that will improve their futures. To help in this process, TTA has established support services to assist individuals and families whose basic needs are challenged. These services include:

- Case Management that provides comprehensive assessments and service plans that address multiple needs of the clients.
- Crisis Counseling that offers short-term intervention to help clients receive assistance, support, resources, and stabilization.
- A Food Pantry that partners with the North Texas Food Bank to reduce hunger among the poor.
- Housing Assistance that assists eligible individuals and families with improving the quality of their living condition through home repair and home ownership education.
- A Holiday Event that distributes food baskets, toys and provides health checks to needy families.

Notable Accomplishments in 2010:

1. Implemented the Client Choice Model for the Food Pantry where families are able to shop and choose the food they want for their families;
2. 240-320 families take advantage of the Food Pantry each week and 60-80 families every service day;
3. Increased shopping days in the Food Pantry to four times per week and a shopper’s number of visits to the pantry once every three months instead of twice per year;
4. Decreased the wait time for Food Pantry shoppers by issuing them a shopping card with their name and date of last visit; and
5. Launched the Housing Assistance program with an information-sharing event that had 100 families from TTA’s participating public schools and seven housing and real estate vendors in attendance.

Dear Friend,

The Turn-Around Agenda (TTA) chooses to be on the front line of waging war...taking our fight to homes, public schools, churches and streets to reclaim the minds of our children and youth. Our approach is multifaceted—using leading-edge life skills education in sexual abstinence; character development; school-based mentoring and youth rallies reinforcing the abstinence message.

However, we have a dilemma in which we need YOUR help!

In October 2008, TTA was awarded a five-year $2.2 million abstinence-only sex education grant through the Department of Health and Human Services in Washington D.C. TTA used the Choosing the Best curriculum to provide classroom abstinence education to 11 middle schools and high schools in Dallas County.

What excited me the most about the grant was the fact we could teach biblically based abstinence education in the public schools. For example, here are two of the eight federally authorized abstinence themes that had to be taught:

- Abstinence from sexual activity outside marriage as the expected standard for all school-age children;
- A mutually faithful monogamous relationship in the context of marriage is the expected standard of human sexual activity.

TTA completed two of the five-year grant period on September 30, 2010 before the current administration cut the program and replaced it with comprehensive sex education with a primary focus on safe sex. We chose not to compete for the comprehensive sex education grant (although invited to apply) because of the mandatory inclusion of safe sex education and adding the option of abortion in the program’s curricula.

That is why we need your support!

Our goal is to raise $450,000 per year. If you are able to make a monetary contribution, you will help us meet our goal and continue abstinence-only sex education and mentoring in the public schools. As you can see, our accomplishments are many and our programs are effective. Please prayerfully consider a donation TODAY to keep TTA’s much-needed programs in the schools and our community. A giving envelope is enclosed for your tax-deductible gift.

Thank you for helping us to build a future and give hope to thousands of young lives.
Together we can make a difference.

Sincerely,

Dr. Tony Evans
President
